SUBJECT: Chatham County Police Department 2019-2022 Strategic Plan
Community Brainstorming Sessions

I am pleased to announce the launch of the Chatham County Police Department 2019-22 Strategic Planning Process.

It is critically important to have the input, perspective and suggestions from the citizens we provide service to in an effort to live up to their expectations and understand how we can deliver excellence in police services.

A key step in the strategic planning process will be for our community members to provide feedback into the establishment of key planning areas. During the week of May 13, 2019 community members will be given the opportunity to participate in a brainstorming session designed to collect community priorities. We need your assistance and input as we identify areas in which we perform well as an organization, and areas where our community would recommend that we place considerable focus to address current and developing challenges. This information will be prioritized, and a plan developed that will be used as a roadmap for the future of the Chatham County Police Department.

We have enlisted the consulting services of retired Raleigh NC Police Chief Harry P. Dolan and members of his consulting team: Lieutenant Robbie Williams, Hawthorne California Police Department, Rick Rocchetti, Strategic Planning Specialist, Dr. Scott W. Phillips, Professor in the Criminal Justice Department at SUNY Buffalo State, and Dr. Richard Johnson, Chief Academic Officer Dolan Consulting Group, LLC. Our consultants have already begun their work with a strategic planning process review and brain-storming session with our senior leadership team. We also have scheduled brain-storming sessions with all police personnel so that they will also have an opportunity to provide direct input into the strategic plan.

Please find noted below the date/time for the community brain-storming session. This is a great opportunity to contribute and play a role in the process of guiding the future of our department.
